

BUCKETS

CLUTTER-FREE SPACES

Fritz Hansen's new trio of organisers makes clutter a thing of the past. Smooth yet sturdy leather ensures they're strong enough to hold all your necessities — leaving you to stay focused on the task in hand.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Originally designed for an exhibition as large, outdoor objects in steel, Buckets is reinterpreted as a series of scaled-down vessels suitable for organising writing implements. Designed to be used together, the set comprises three bucket-shaped penholder pots, each with distinctive handles. The tray beneath can be used alone to keep keys, paperclips or other small desk essentials within easy reach, and always in the same place.

MIA LAGERMAN (1964-)

Marked by a minimalist Scandinavian aesthetic, Mia Lagerman's design marries quality with function and beauty. Pushing the boundaries of materials and craftsmanship, she creates innovative products with a human touch that reflect her inquisitive nature and desire to constantly develop her skills as a designer. Eschewing the predictable, she often adds interest to her designs with quirky details or unexpected combinations.

THE MATERIALS

Crafted in dark brown harness leather, notable for its resilience and smooth surface, the buckets and tray are detailed with contrasting hand-stitched details in pale grey thread. Natural imperfections on the surface attest to the authenticity of the material, which will age beautifully over time.
